

Work Style Assessment Self-Coaching Tool

Work Style Assessment

A sophisticated career and self-coaching development tool.

Not Your Average Personal Attributes Assessment

The Work Style Assessment empowers auditors through self awareness. Insights revealed include:

- Your individual strengths as an auditor
- Coaching and managing considerations that benefit your auditing career
- Areas to consider for ongoing professional development

These results can provide a deeper understanding of your skills so they can be utilized for your advantage.

The Work Style Assessment is an objective way to learn about your unique personality traits and values and how these manifest on the job. This knowledge leads to a true understanding of your capability and performance, and how these can be best utilized.

Key points about the Work Style Assessment:

- It takes approximately 15 minutes to complete
- There are no right or wrong answers. It's all about understanding yourself better.
- A PDF report is generated and emailed to you within one hour of completion.

How It Works

The assessment looks at the attributes of auditors and lead auditors. The assessment for auditors provides insights on the following attributes:

- Non-dominant vs dominant
- Direct vs empathetic
- Contented vs achievement focused
- Spontaneous vs regimented

• Reactive vs calm

- Conventional vs open minded
- Reserved vs outgoing

These attributes consider:

- Suitability for managing or supervising a team
- Potential for growth
- Performance under stress
- Teamwork skills
- Level of attention to detail and planning skills
- Suitability for a highly structured or changing environment

The assessment for lead auditors provides insights on the above attributes, plus:

- Integrity
- Responsibility
- Coachability
- Positive attitude
- Aggression control
- Open communication

The Results

The results have two levels. The first being how you scored compared with working adults. The second is how you fit compared with a benchmark for auditors.

This model gives the assessment fairness and objectivity and separates it from other ways of evaluating people that are more prone to bias, such as interviews.

Validation

All assessments developed by our partner have been designed and validated specifically for behavioral risk and are designed to help decrease incidents of issues including absenteeism, theft, fraud, violence, injuries, fatalities, and property damage. Ongoing research and data analysis is conducted to ensure assessments are free of bias.
